JUDGE HAMERSLEY CLAIMED BY DEATH

DISTINGUISHED LAWYER, TRINITY ALUMNUS AND TRUSTEE PASSES AWAY.

Judge William Hamersley, 82 years old, a trustee of the college, died September 17, 1920, at his home No. 180 Farmington Avenue. He had been ill since the middle of August.

Judge Hamersley was born in Hartford on September 9, 1838, the son of William James Hamersley and Laura Sophia Cooke. His mother was a daughter of Oliver Dudley Cooke, of Puritan descent who was, after his graduation from Yale, a Congregational clergyman and in 1800 founded the publishing house of O. D. Cooke. Judge Hamersley was fourth in descent from William Hamersley, an officer of the British ship-of-war Valeur, which was stationed at New York in 1776. This British officer resigned his commission and married a woman of Dutch descent, settling in New York. William James Hamersley, the father of Judge Hamersley, was a distinguished citizen and was postmaster of Hartford at one time. For some years he was editor of the "American Mercury", a paper which was sold to, and incorporated with the "Independent Press" of Hartford.

After passing through the grammar and high schools in Hartford, Judge Hamersley attended Trinity and later Harvard Law School. He entered the law office of Welch & Shipman, was admitted to the bar in 1859 and at once began the practice of law independently in this city. He made his first entrance into official life as a member of the Court of Common Council in 1863. Three years later he was chosen vice-president of that body and in 1867-8 was president. From 1866 to 1868 he was city attorney and resigned to accept an appointment as state's attorney for Hartford County. He filled this position for twenty years with great ability.

Judge Hamersley was appointed on the commission which in 1878 framed the practice act and the orders and Rushing Rules.

It is of the greatest importance that everyone become thoroughly acquainted with the rules adopted to regulate the rushing season.

The higher classmen have agreed upon these rules, it is up to them to honor and obey them. The Freshmen should remember that they are equally responsible, and should learn the rules and follow them. We must all cooperate to start this year, which promises to be the best Trinity has ever seen, in the right way.

The rules in force now are:

1—No man shall be pledged to any fraternity until he shall have been an undergraduate student at Trinity for fourteen days.

2—(a) Each house shall entertain first those freshmen with whom it has had correspondence or who have friends in that house before introducing them to other crowds.

(b) The chairman of the rushing committee of each house shall be responsible for seeing that every freshman is introduced at every other house.

3—(a) At seven o'clock on the last night of the no-pledging period, new men will gather in Alumni Hall. At that time each fraternity shall issue dinner invitations to those undergraduates it desires to bid.

(b) Each man must notify the fraternity whose invitation he will accept by one o'clock of the following day. These acceptances shall be deposited in a box to be placed in some position to be designated by the interfraternity council.

(c) No fraternity man may speak with a freshman from the time he has received his invitation until he arrives at dinner the following night.

(d) The interfraternity council shall be in charge of the distribution of invitations which shall be uniform, and shall be prepared by the council.

PRESIDENT OGILBY ISSUES STATEMENT

NEW PRESIDENT EXPLAINS
RELATIONSHIP TO TEACHING HERE.

President Remsen B. Ogilby, who assumed office as president of the college on July 1, 1920, has given THE TRIPOD the following statement:

"I have just been asked by THE TRIPOD to write a few words about my relationship to the teaching at Trinity. It is my hope that administrative duties will not prevent me from teaching while I am at the college, but for the present year it will be exceedingly difficult for me to give much time to it. At the suggestion of several members of the Faculty the course in Public Speaking (English 8) is to be revived as a half-course, and I am looking forward to giving that. My chief interest in this is because of the importance I lay upon the ability of college men to express themselves cogently and coherently by the written word as well as the spoken word. If there is any one single course in college, the progress of which I shall watch with greater interest than another, it is the course in Freshman English.

My experience in the Far East has left me with a desire to do what I can to let the present generations of Americans realize the importance of the Pacific Ocean and of the Americans on its shores in the history of this present century. I hope next year to give a course in the History of the Far East, or perhaps it might be better put as the History of the Pacific Ocean. The masters of my school in Baguio in the Philippine Islands are contributing to a fund which is already sufficient to enable the library to build up a good little reference library on this subject, and I hope we can start the course next year."

R. B. OGILBY.

BLUE AND GOLD DEFEATS FIRST OPPONENTS BY 14 TO 0 SCORE---BLEECKER STARS

Trinity started the 1920 football season Saturday by defeating the Connecticut Aggies, 14 to 0. Although it was too hot for football, the team played well, and from general appearances the season should be a successful one. The Blue and Gold had things all its own way except in the last part of the fourth quarter, when a forward pass and a penalty put the Aggies near the Trinity goal for the first time of the game. Mitchell tried a drop kick from the thirty-yard line, but the ball missed the cross bar by about a foot.

The Trinity line was like a stone-wall, while the Aggies' line was easy to penetrate at several places. The backfield used by Trinity, which was composed of freshmen, proved hard to stop, gains of twenty and thirty yards being made at frequent intervals.

Bleecker, who was the star of the first half of the game, was taken out at the end of the half exhausted by the heat, and was removed to the Hartford Hospital. Brennan suffered a wrenched ankle.

The game opened with Trinity receiving, defending the south goal. Trinity did not have much difficulty in taking the ball into the Aggies' territory, the way for a score being paved by a fumble which was recovered by Sinnott. A forward pass which was grounded in the end zone dashed Trinity's hopes. The Aggies were forced to punt and Bleecker made a brilliant run. Several line plunges were tried for good gains

NEW BUILDINGS ARE PLANNED

FOR TRINITY OF FUTURE.

Before the end of the year plans will be ready for several additions to the buildings of the college and a much greater system of athletic fields, if the scheme for the development of the college as announced recently by President Ogilby, go along as smoothly as anticipated. It is expected that plans will be submitted for a new chapel, a new gymnasium and a new science building, and that arrangements will be made for several more tennis courts, baseball diamonds, and possibly a nine-hole golf course.

The statement issued by President Ogilby is as follows:

"The committee of trustees of Trinity College appointed to make plans for the campaign to increase the endowment has been holding several meetings during the summer. Their plans are maturing and in a short time the active work of the campaign will begin. As a preliminary to the campaign a committee has been appointed to make a survey of the college property, and to draw up a plan ambitious in scope and exceedingly comprehensive which will provide for all future growth of the college. Sites of our future buildings will be determined upon and schemes for the layout of the grounds and athletic fields will be settled. When the trustees have once accepted this report,

A WELCOME.

We wish to welcome to Trinity the new members of the faculty. They have come to us at the right time. This year promises to be a turning point in our career. The world has progressed rapidly in the past few years. Perhaps we may have lost a little ground, but we have gained our footing once more and will soon be in the lead. We are glad that our new faculty members may share the pride we feel for our approaching success, and are sure that they will quickly become loyal Trinity supporters.

FOLLOW THE LEADER!

Once more we wish to pledge to President Ogilby the support of the student body. It is hardly possible for us to welcome him to Trinity this fall, since he was here long before the first student returned, and was busy preparing things for the new term. Besides attending to his regular duties, he was on the field in football uniform assisting Coach Lamberton drill the squad. Such an example set us by our president cannot but make us wish to get up and "do things" for Trinity, and under his leadership we shall surely succeed.

ACTION!

The Endowment Fund for Trinity is a thing which concerns us all, undergraduates and alumnus alike. We must see that it receives all the "boosting" we can give it. As yet, no definite plans have been announced as to how the campaign will be carried on. However, we need not remain idle. Nothing succeeds like success. If, for instance, we have a successful football team this fall we will feel satisfied with our college, and will be proud of it. Our pride will be contagious, our friends will become interested in us, and when the campaign starts in earnest, we will have their support.

Back the team and boost the College. Go down to the field and watch the practice. Show that you take an interest in what is going on. The team can fight better if it has evidence of what it is fighting for. Cheer it on, fight with it! From now on, let's think "Trinity", talk "Trinity", and work for "Trinity"!

THE SUB-FRESHMAN FUND.

THE TRIPOD has received several inquiries as to the nature of the sub-freshman fund for which a space is left on the subscription blank. This idea was started last year and enables THE TRIPOD to send copies of every issue to a number of high schools which we could not otherwise include on our exchange list. Last year the paper was sent to about sixty high schools, as a means of advertising the college. So far this year we have enough money to send news of Trinity to over eighty schools where they should be men who are planning to come to Trinity. We would be glad to receive suggestions from any of the alumni regarding schools where the paper would be of use in advertising the college. We wish to acknowledge the following contributions:

ALUMNI CORRESPONDENCE.

THE TRIPOD'S primary purpose is to serve as a news medium between the college, that is the faculty and undergraduates, and the alumni body. Two steps have been taken to make the paper a more efficient news medium—a greater servant to the college and its alumni. The first step was taken last spring when THE TRIPOD joined the Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association. This will enable us to get fuller reports on athletic events in which Trinity is interested, but to which it is impossible to send a reporter. The second step is the establishing of a corps of alumni correspondents who will cover news of Trinity graduates in their vicinities. A man instinctively hesitates to write about himself, and to secure the details of the doings of Trinity grads we are organizing a staff of men who will write up their neighbors' doings. The personnel of this staff will be announced soon, and please, Mr. Alumnus, make it your business to see that the correspondent for your city gets all the Trinity news there is to get.

it will mean that the future development of the college will be along unified lines with room for every possible growth in the future. This committee is composed of an architect, Mr. Breck Trowbridge, a graduate in the class of 1883, who is one of the most promising architects in New York City, a landscape architect. Mr. Hollis S. Candee of this city, whose work is well known here, and Mr. Charles G. Woodward, with the president ex-officio. Preliminary surveys have already been begun and the report of this committee is looked for with great interest."

S. B. P. TROWBRIDGE, '83.

Member of Building Committee is Distinguished Architect—Studied Abroad.

Samuel Breck Parkman Trowbridge received his B. A. degree from Trinity in 1883 and his M. A. in 1891. In 1886 he received the degree of Ph. B. from the Columbia School of Architecture and in 1910 he was given the degree of Sc. D at Trinity.

Trowbridge has studied architecture at Athens, and Paris. He was sent by the Archaeology Institute to superintend the erection of the building of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens.

Mr. Trowbridge is a partner in the firm of Trowbridge & Livingston and belongs to many clubs, both American and foreign. He is a member of the Delta Psi fraternity and is a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France.

COLLEGE OPENS.

President Ogilby Conducts Opening Chapel Exercises.

Trinity formally opened for its ninety-seventh year with chapel services on Thursday afternoon. President R. B. Ogilby delivered the address and otherwise officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. John J. McCook, Professor of Modern Languages. President Ogilby's address was directed largely to the freshmen and closed by giving to all a challenge of loyalty to the college above everything else.

After the service, the freshmen were given an opportunity to recover from their nervousness by passing through a gauntlet of higher classmen after the seniors, juniors and sophomores had left the chapel in customary order of classes. Then came the chapel rush. After two rounds of tussling, the senate committee decided that the sophomores and freshmen had become acquainted with each other. The whole assemblage then gave seven "Trins" for President Ogilby and brought the celebration to a close with "Neath the Elms," led by the college quartet.

TRINITY DOWNS AGGIES.

and then Bleecker shot through the Aggie team for a forty-yard gain, being downed a few yards from the goal. Sinclair took the oval over on the following play and Johnson kicked the goal.

The play during the second quarter was almost all in the center of the field, with Trinity gaining consistently on rushes, but losing the ground on fumbles. Trinity missed a chance to score right at the beginning of the period when they were held for downs on the Aggie two-yard line.

Trinity kicked off at the beginning of the second half and the Aggies fumbled after a few rushes. Murphy, who had gone in for Brennan, carried the ball for five successive times and scored the second touchdown. Johnson again added the extra point. Trinity rushed the ball back from the kickoff and scintillating runs by Murphy, Sinclair and Kennedy took the pigskin well into Aggie territory. The Blue and White held on their ten-yard line, however, and took the ball on downs. They punted and Sinclair ran the ball back to where it had started from. Another possible touchdown was lost when a forward pass was grounded over the goal line.

The Aggies showed up the best of any time during the game in the fourth quarter. Sneedman got away with twenty yards on a long forward pass and penalties brought the Aggies well into Trinity territory for the first time of the game. Mitchell's drop kick was tried with less than a minute to play and Trinity had no time to start another procession down the field after getting the ball on their own twenty-yard line.

The summaries:

JUDGE HAMERSLEY

CLAIMED BY DEATH.

rules of court and forms under that act which were adopted by the judges. In 1886 he represented Hartford in the House of Representatives in the Legislature and served on the committees on judiciary and federal relations.

Governor Morris appointed Judge Hamersley an associate justice of the supreme court of errors in 1893 after he had served on the superior court bench and he was reappointed in 1901. He was a lecturer on constitutional law at Trinity College from 1875 to 1900 and has been a member of the board of trustees of the college since 1884. Trinity conferred upon him the honorary degrees of A. M. in 1865 and LL.D. in 1893.

Judge Hamersley was one of the founders of the Connecticut State Bar Association, and with Richard D. Hubbard and Simeon E. Baldwin constituted the committee of the association through whose efforts the American Bar Association was formed. Through this agency much of the most important legislation for thirty years or more has been achieved. He was instrumental in improving the jury system in this state. Most of Judge Hamersley's life was given to the practice of his profession and to work relating to reform in the state law proceedings.

Former Governor Baldwin, Judge Hamersley and State Secretary Albert Phillips composed the State Library Committee of Connecticut, to which was turned over the new state library and supreme court building upon its completion. This committee had charge of the general policy of the library and building.

Judge Hamersley was a democrat in politics. Upon his reaching the age limit for the supreme court bench he was appointed referee. He was twice married, first to Cynthia Williams of Painesville, O., on October 19, 1870 and to Jane Allen of Old Saybrook on October 25, 1882. He leaves his second wife and one granddaughter, Jane, daughter of Emily Collins Hamersley. A daughter, Miss Janet Hamersley, died on December 16, 1910, and his son William J. Hamersley, Trinity, '09, died on October 25, 1918, from influenza contracted while doing Red Cross work at Camp Devens.

Judge Hamersley was one of the early members of the Hartford Club and was a charter member of the University Club of New York. He was a member of the Manhattan Club of New York city and of the Beta Beta Chapter of Psi Upsilon fraternity of Trinity.

In commenting on the death of Judge Hamersley, Former Chief Justice Samuel O. Prentice said:

"I am astonished at hearing of Judge Hamersley's death. When I saw him a few weeks ago he appeared so singularly well, considering his years, that I was wholly unprepared for the sad news. His going means to me the loss of a personal friend; to the bar of the state, the loss of one of the oldest and foremost representatives, and to society at large the loss of one of its stoutest defenders of the right, as he saw it. Physical infirmities have slightly limited his activities since he retired from the bench some dozen years ago. But before that event his contributions to the public weal as a public prosecutor and to the development of our law as a judge were such as to entitle him to a high place in the annals of his time. To those, however, who knew him best his highest claim to remembrance will be his kindly qualities of heart and the delightfully sweet gentleness and geniality which made and retained for him their fondest affection."

Judge William F. Henney paid the following tribute to Judge Hamersley:

"Judge Hamersley was an original man—his views and opinions were peculiarly his own. In all the relations of life he sought the right course and his conclusions when arrived at were stoutly maintained and fearlessly followed. As a lawyer, the records of our courts give excellent testimony to his ability and zeal, while his legal scholarship is attested by the variety and scope of his opinions from the bench. As a companion he delighted in the society of fine men. His death marks the passing of a group whose successors have not yet arrived. His aim was to serve his day and generation and to that service he gave the best that was in him in unstinted measure. He could not do otherwise."

The funeral of Judge Hamersley was held September 20, 1920, followed by funeral services at Trinity Church. The Rev. Ernest DeF. Miel officiated, assisted by the Rev. John J. McCook, the Rev. Remsen B. Ogilby, president of the college; and Rev. S. H. Edsall, curate of Trinity Church and a graduate of Trinity College, from which Judge Hamersley was graduated more than 60 years ago. The honorary bearers were Judge Samuel O. Prentice, Judge Simeon E. Baldwin, Judge George W. Wheeler, Charles Hopkins Clark, Charles E. Gross, Samuel G. Dunham, Colonel Louis R. Cheney, Professor Henry A. Perkins, Colonel Francis Parsons, Lucius F. Robinson, James P. Andrews, John T. Robinson, Horace B. Cheney, Andrew J. Broughel and Arthur L. Shipman. The burial was in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Ehlers, '14, in China.

Joseph H. Ehlers, son of Mrs. Caroline T. Ehlers of Hartford, has been appointed assistant professor of structural engineering at Pei Yang University, Tientsin, China. Mr. Ehlers was graduated from Trinity College in 1914. He sailed from San Francisco June 8, and went by way of the Hawaiian Islands, across Japan and through Korea and Manchuria. He ran into the cholera epidemic in Japan and was quarantined.

Pei Yang University is one of the leading technical schools in China. Its students speak English and all instructions is in English. Graduates are admitted to full graduate standing in American universities.

Mr. Ehlers writes that a battle, in the recent civil disturbances, was fought three miles from the university.

FACULTY CHANGES.

Professors Urban, Riggs and Babbitt Leave. Professor Knowlton Resigns.

The Trinity faculty has suffered many changes during the summer. Professors Urban and Riggs and Mr. Bacon have resigned and Professor Babbitt has been granted a leave of absence. Professor Archer E. Knowlton who was on leave last year has also resigned, and will act as gas expert for the state public utilities commission. Professor Dadourian who took Professor Knowlton's classes last year will be permanent assistant in the physics department.

Brief histories of the new members of the faculty are given below:

Vernon Kriebel.

Professor Vernon Kriebel has taken the place of Professor Robert Baird Riggs as head of the department of chemistry at Trinity. Doctor Kriebel received his early education in Pennsylvania, took an arts degree at Brown, and in 1907 went to McGill University where he was a graduate student and demonstrator. In 1912 he was made a lecturer and in 1913 received his doctor's degree. In 1914 he was made assistant professor of chemistry. Dr. Kriebel has published many research papers on organic and biochemical subjects in English and American scientific journals. He has also studied special lines in other institutions, chief among which are Johns Hopkins and the University of Pennsylvania.

Harry T. Costello.

Dr. Harry T. Costello has been appointed professor of philosophy to succeed Dr. Urban, who is now head of the department of philosophy at Dartmouth. Dr. Costello was born in Richmond, Indiana, thirty-five years ago and was educated in the public schools and at Earlham College. He received the degrees of M. A. and Ph.D. at Harvard and then studied in France at the University of Paris. Among the prominent leaders of philosophy that Dr. Costello has studied under, are William James, Josiah Royce, George Santayana, Henri Bergson, Rudolf Eucken and Bertrand Russell.

Before coming to Trinity, Dr. Costello taught philosophy at Harvard for two years, Yale for one year and Columbia for five years. Last year he was in charge of post-graduate research at Columbia and also an instructor at the College of the City of New York.

He is to be acting professor this coming year, taking Professor Urban's courses substantially as he has been giving them. The Brownell Professorship is not to be filled until next year.

Morse S. Allen.

Morse Shepard Allen has been chosen as the new associate professor of English at Trinity. He graduated from Wesleyan University in 1912 with the degree of bachelor of arts. In 1913 he received the degree of master of arts from both Wesleyan and Columbia. He studied at Oxford during 1913 and 1914 and then returned to this country as assistant professor of English at Ohio Wesleyan University. He received the degree of doctor of philosophy from Princeton University in 1920. Mr. Allen is a distant relative of Professor Odell

Shepard, head of the English Department at Trinity. Mrs. Allen was formerly Miss Marjorie Hills of Delaware, Ohio. They were married in 1918.

Harold Drew.

Harold Drew, a former athlete at Bates College and Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, has been engaged to assist Dr. H. C. Swan in physical training for the coming year. Mr. Drew graduated from Bates College in 1916 and from the Y. M. C. A. College in 1920. He was a member of the track and football teams at both colleges and at Bates holds the college record for pole vaulting. In 1917, Mr. Drew was captain of the Bates' football team. During the war Mr. Drew was in the naval aviation service for two years.

CURRICULUM CHANGES.

Several Changes in Physics and English Departments.

There have been several changes made in the curriculum this year. Italian I was given last year by Professor Barret. This year the same course is offered under Professor John J. McCook. President Ogilby is planning to give a course in Public Speaking (English 8), meeting throughout the year and counting a half point toward a degree. Greek A and Greek 4 can now be counted toward the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. English 10, a course in general dramatic technique, and the history of the drama with especial emphasis on the Elizabethan and modern drama, is being offered this year by Professor Allen. English 1, will be made more literary, less theme work being required. There will be writing for those who need it most, but the greater part of the course will be devoted to reading and the history of the English language. English 3 will be divided between Professors Shepard and Allen. Physics 3b and 5b will be combined to form a single course, Physics 5, the prerequisites being Physics 2 and Mathematics 2. The course will cover mechanics as applied to physical and engineering problems. Physics 5a will be changed to 3b and will deal as heretofore, with general thermodynamics. Physics 8b will be changed to 8a and will be the same as before.

BLOODY MONDAY.

Sophomores Win Rope Rush 11 to 3—1924 Wins Bulletin Board Scrap.

The sophomore class won the rope rush Monday evening. The freshmen fought well and for some time the outcome was doubtful. The first man to be tied was Harris Thomas, a freshman from Denton, Md. The next two men were sophomores. The sophomores only lost one more man in the allotted time, however, and succeeded in tying up eleven freshmen. The record for a rope rush is held by the present junior class which last year tied up twenty of their opponents without losing a man.

Earlier in the afternoon the freshmen succeeded in touching the bulletin board in twenty seconds. The sophomores completely stopped the freshmen rush with a strong first line defense and the remainder of the scrap was a wrestling match. Attempts to throw a freshman over the heads of the strugglers were futile but the freshmen finally worked around the sides of the crowd and reached the board. J. Elmer Mulford of Bridgeton, N. J. and D'Alton L. Marsh of Westport, Conn., touched the bulletin board simultaneously from opposite sides.

After the rope rush the college body marched down to the capitol in order of classes to the tune of college and class songs. "Neath the Elms" was sung on the site of the old college and seven "Trins" were given for President Ogilby.

Due to the passing of Harry Bond's, the freshmen were put through their usual stunts in the college union, after the students returned from the capitol. Cider and crullers were served.

COLUMBIA NEXT!

Football Team's Second Opponent is Unknown Quantity.

Trinity will play its second football game of the season on Saturday when it will line up against Columbia at South Field, New York. Columbia has not yet played a game, so it is impossible to form any accurate estimate of the prowess of the Blue and White lion. The New York eleven is being coached by Buck O'Neill, who has had wonderful success at Syracuse. Practice has been secret, but from what has leaked out it would seem as if the Columbia mentor was drilling his men in off-tackle plays. Long sessions have been devoted to the fundamentals of the game and an effort is being made to develop the backfield into an open field running combination. The Columbia squad is suffering heavily from injuries.

Only two of the teams on the Trinity schedule started their seasons on September 25. Bowdoin played Springfield on that date and the Y. M. C. A. team won the game without much trouble by a 21 to 0 score. Other teams get going next week when Wesleyan plays R. I. State at Middletown, Williams plays Rensselaer at Williamstown, and Amherst plays Brown at Providence. N. Y. U. will not open its season until October 9, when it will play Columbia.

Registration.

The registration up to date shows two hundred and ten men in college this year. Of these, seventy-five are new men. There are nine men transferring from other institutions and three non-matriculated students.

Brennan Heads Freshmen.

The class of 1924 held its first meeting on September 25, and elected the following officers for the Christmas term: President, M. A. Brennan; vice-president, John Sinclair; secretary-treasurer, Raymond V. Palmer. Birmingham, Morton and James were appointed to make arrangements for the Bloody Monday scraps. President Mohnkern of the Junior class explained a few of the college traditions to the freshmen.

FRESHMAN RULES.

Sophomores Issue Magna Carta—
Frosh Must Masticate College Traditions.

The freshmen rules committee, of which C. H. Gesner is chairman, has drawn up the rules for the class of 1924 and they will have them ready for distribution soon. Sections 3 and 4 of article V are old Trinity traditions that have been overlooked by the sophomore classes for several years.

The new rules are:

Magna Carta

Governing the Actions, Etiquette, and Behavior of the Class of 1924.

We, the members of the Class of 1923, in order to transform babes and sucklings into college men, do ordain and establish this Magna Carta for the Class of 1924:

Article I—Show deference, and respect to all members of the faculty and to higher classmen.

Sec. 1. Touch the cap to all members of the faculty.

Sec. 2. Salute all higher classmen.

Article II—Cultivate College Spirit.

Sec. 1. Learn all songs and yells.

Sec. 2. Attend all games and college meetings.

Sec. 3. Try out for athletics.

Article III—Be Neat, and Modest In Appearance.

Sec. 1. Wear Freshman cap on the Campus at all times.

Sec. 2. No mustaches allowed, but full beards will be tolerated.

Article IV—Make Yourself Useful.

Sec. 1. Carry matches at all times for the accommodation of higher classmen.

Sec. 2. Answer College telephone, and page person wanted.

Article V—DONT'S.

Sec. 1. Don't smoke any pipe other than a corncob.

Sec. 2. Don't wear "prep. school" insignia.

Sec. 3. Don't walk on the North Side of Vernon Street unless accompanied by a higher classman.

Sec. 4. Don't be caught after twelve p. m., on the Campus unless chaperoned by a higher classman.

Sec. 5. Don't interrupt the conversation of higher classmen.

Article VI—Place These Rules In A Conspicuous Part Of Your Room.

Sec. 1. Masticate, swallow, and digest these laws, for ignorance is no alibi.

Done in convention, by unanimous consent, this twenty-third day of September, nineteen-hundred and twenty.

BY THE CLASS OF 1923.

No Punt Out This Year.

Only one change has been made in the rules for football for the 1920 season. The National Football Rules Committee has decided that football shall be played without the punt out after the touchdown. The team making the touchdown can bring the football out to any distance and to a point directly in front of the goal posts or elsewhere and the try for the goal will remain a free kick from placement.

At the Other End of the Wire

A TWIST of the wrist and electricity lights cities and towns, turns the wheels of industry, or affords conveniences to millions of people.

But let us follow the wire carrying this energy to its source and we find either a waterfall, a coal mine or an oil well.

Much of the supply of fuel in this country is being used up rapidly while the power of water is running to waste. For the rivers and streams of this country could, if properly harnessed, develop enough electric power to save 300,000,000 tons of coal annually.

By studying nature's forces—coal, oil and water—by applying them to machines, and finally by the perfection of apparatus to insure uninterrupted power service under varying conditions, the General Electric Company is serving to make electric power cheaper, more plentiful and reliable.
